

newspapers is honest and which is crooked by the manner in which they handle this investigation. If the purpose is to discredit union labor, then the papers will not be fair, but will strive only to expose labor crooks. If the purpose is to help Chicago and to be on the level, then they will be as eager to expose crooked employers as they are eager to expose crooked workers.

There is the same human nature in the employer that is found in the employee. If the crooked business man lost his fortune and became an employee and labor leader, he would be the same man in both cases, and as crooked in one as in the other.

And the crooked labor leader would be the same crook if some change of fortune made him a business man and employer.

But I want to see McLaughlin and the other employers who are yelling blackmail come clear through and not let the impression get out that all this fuss is being kicked up to save Dignan, the employer, from the consequences of the killing of Hammond, the business agent.

There is a suspicion in some minds that this is the game; and you can't blame workmen for being suspicious of the intent and purpose of employers, whom they regard as a class as their natural enemies.

YOUNG GIRL TAKES HIGH ROAD AND IS ARRESTED

A 17-year-old girl was brought into the Morals Court today in custody of two big coppers. She was Grace Gibbons, paroled from the Geneva State Home for Girls.

Grace's mother died when she was 1 year old; her father died when she was 11. She went to live with strangers in Vandalia, Ill. Then she started going with boys and an older sister had her sent to Geneva, Ill.

Geneva soon got in their parole system, which means shipping out girls to drudge for families while Geneva gets the money. She was shipped all over the northern part of the state for the last two years by the Geneva authorities, she says. All the time Geneva was drawing her pay.

Finally while working in Sandwich, Ill., she met William Payne, a young Englishman. He was good looking and he talked of love and marriage to this pretty young slave of the Geneva Home.

After going with her awhile he suggested they elope to Chicago. When he got her here they took a room at 837 S. Wabash avenue.

Then Payne did the evil thing. He failed to marry her. Things became worse for the couple. Grace took the high road. She was arrested last night at 12th street and Michigan boulevard with two men.

She will be sent back to Geneva. Payne was given six months in the Bridewell and an effort will be made to deport him to England when he gets out. The two men arrested with the girl were fined $10 each.

ADVOCATE NEW CHURCH, BIBLE AND PRAYER BOOK

Milwaukee, June 27.—Episcopalians were astonished today upon seeing in the current number of the Living Church, an article by Dean S. P. Delany of All Saints Cathedral, apparently advocating a new creed, a new prayer book, a new church and a new Bible.

He explained that the article was sarcastic, but that there were persons who would take the reforms seriously. The new creed which he suggested reads in part:

"I believe in God, the Father, maker of heaven and earth.

"And in Jesus Christ, his son, our Lord; who was born of Joseph and Mary; was crucified, dead and buried; He went into the place of departed spirits; the third day His spirit rose again and passed over into the spiritual world.

This change with a new Lord's prayer, he says, should make those who dislike the present form, feel more pious.
